GLENDALE PRESS-NEWTON RADIO PROGRAM GOES OVER BIG AT SECOND CONCERT

Reports Throughout the District Show Wonderful Modulation Is Appreciated by Host of Receivers in Many Homes

VALENTINE HOLLISTER SENDS MESSAGE
Commander James McBryde Speaks to American Legion Meeting in Clear Tones From Broadcasting Station in Press Building

"The modulation is wonderful," was the statement made by nearly everyone listening to the concerts from KFAC. "You don't have to worry about your modulation," stated Mr. Brenkman, who runs an electric shop in Tropico. Modulation refers to the clearness of voice and music, or rather to the manner in which it is reproduced. This is one of the greatest factors of a good station, for what good is a station with great power if the voice cannot be understood and the music is mushy? To get power and modulation at a high point

WOODLANDS MAIL DELIVERY IS SWITCHED

Residents Resent Delivery; Part Now Goes to La Canada

After July 16 the people of Verdugo Woodlands, a portion of Glendale, will receive their mail matter through the La Canada post-office, instead of through the Glendale office, as at present, according to orders just received by Postmaster Ripley F. Jackson, of Glendale. The mail will be distributed over what is known as the "star route" out of La Canada. Just why this change is being made, or how it is hoped to improve the service through the change, is not stated. Up to the present time the bare fact that the change is to be put into effect has been learned.

Just why the whole of Glendale cannot be efficiently served from the Glendale office is the burning question. It can hardly be expected that an office the size of La Canada is capable of giving better service than is possible out of the Glendale office. A little light may be reflected on the subject by the following interview as to the quality of mail service received by his section, given by John L. Boien, of 640 Wabasso way:

"Our mail service is rotten. About half the time we do not get the mail that is addressed to us. The rural route, P. O. box system, has been assigned to the Verdugo Woodlands. We are not complaining about that. It is good so far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. A piece of mail matter is addressed to a person and the P. O. box is mentioned he very often receives it, but if it happened to be addressed to the street number it is sent back to the writer. It would be an easy matter to arrange a system of mail delivery, house number and box number so that regardless of which way the letter was addressed, it would find its destination. Last Saturday I sent out a lot of cards to Verdugo Woodlands people, inviting them to a meeting on Tuesday evening. Some of the mgot these cards on Monday and Tuesday, but most of them did not get the cards until after the meeting. They are still being received and some of them probably will not find their destinations for days to come. While we want to have our mail sent out from the Glendale office, I cannot see how a less efficient service could be afforded by the La Canada office. We are a part of Glendale in every particular, but we want a little improvement in the mail service."

CAMPS IN CANYON RAIDED BY CHIEF OF POLICE

Parties Gathered Along
Streams Are Warned
to Move

A raid on the campers in Verdugo canyon was made by Chief of Police Fraser yesterday afternoon. "Early yesterday morning Chief Fraser learned that several parties were camping along the stream that runs through Verdugo canyon. Shortly after hearing this report he drove up the canyon and found three camps, the occupants of which were not "at home." Determined to put a stop to this practice right away, he called again yesterday evening and informed the campers that they would have to "move on."

Life's Greatest Treasures Are Cited in The Listening Post

Self-respect, kindness, happiness, serenity, generosity, forgiveness and understanding are the greatest treasures of life, according to the philosopher about whom James W. Foley writes in the Listening Post this evening. He makes no mention of wealth, power, justice, beauty or fame as being among the things which make life really worth while.

There are exceptional instances in which the inventor reaps the riches from his genius, but in most cases the man is frozen out by the fellow who has helped him at a crucial time. Nobody cares particularly when any one loses a fortune, but there is genuine admiration for the energetic man who is able to acquire a fortune by any form of adventure work. These are just a few of the comments gleaned from the interesting statements made today by Henry James in his usual characteristic style.

"Evolution by Fumbling" is the attractive title of Dr. Frank Crane's article this evening. John Kilginn and Della Stewart, too, contribute their daily features, which command the attention of readers of the editorial page as being fascinating to those interested in life all about them.

Education, the alien within our gates and the span of life are the themes for editorials which will give the reader some new ideas on these subjects which are of such moment in the nation's life.

OAK ST. PAVING CALL IS ISSUED BY CLARKE

To Discuss Better Street
Conditions and Improvements

All residents of Oak street are called to a special meeting to be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the home of F. A. Clarke, 351 Oak street, to discuss the paving of that street.

It is for the purpose of discussing plans for better paving that this meeting is being held. Different members of the city council have admitted that the cheap improvement is inadequate and there is no doubt but what within a year's time more money will have to be expended to improve the street, whereas, if they install a thorough macadam road, the street would last for an indefinite period. This class of pavement can be seen on Hawthorne, Ivy or Harvard between Columbus and Central, either of these streets being seven and eight years old, and showing no sign of wear.

It is the belief of Mr. Clarke that such a pavement should be installed on Oak street, and every resident is urged to be present.

SCOUTS STUDY RED CROSS WORK

Troop Number Two Enters Contest for Prize
Essay

The members of Troop No. 2, Glendale Boy Scouts, have started an American Red Cross essay contest. A prize has been offered for the best essay by Dr. Mortimer Scafe of Santa Monica. The prize offered is a first aid kit.

The essays must be of 1200-word length and cover the origin of the American Red Cross and the work of the American Red Cross. The themes will be sent in to either Scout Executive H. F. Benner, who will forward them, or direct to Dr. Scafe, who is to judge the contest.

Dr. Scafe formerly lived in Glendale and has always taken an interest in scouting, especially as it pertains to Troop No. 2. Benjamin Robinson is scout master for this troop.

The contest has already opened and will continue until July 13. The themes will be judged immediately after the contest closes so the winner will have his kit to take to the boy scout camp. The scout camp opens July 20 and closes July 23.

Applications for the camp are still coming in. Scout Executive H. F. Benner announces that practically all of the boys the camp will accommodate have applied for the trip. There are a few vacancies remaining. Mr. Benner is confident that these vacancies will be filled before the troops from this district leave.

LOS ANGELES GETS FEDERATION MEET

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 1.—Los Angeles today was selected for the 1924 biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs by the delegates in session here.

Menace to Young Life

A side-light on the perils of young people and growing girls and boys, to which the editorial, "Sowing the Whirlwind," in the Glendale Daily Press referred, was given yesterday before the Kiwanis club by the Rev. Bob Shuler, pointing out the commercialized vice which finds in the youth of the land its first victims; then its habitués. For the shadows of life do not lure the happily matured man. To the youth it possesses but fascination. It appeals to the "sporting" spirit—the spirit of dare with which healthy youth is filled. The spirit which is at once its glory and its greatest danger.

The Rev. Shuler referred to men in high places, perjured for gain, refusing service in the suppression of this evil; to the organized vice, that seeks to dominate the courts; to the alleged protection of thousands of bootleggers, and to the menace of lawless aliens, the main profiteers of evil, 75 per cent of whom, he declared to be the offenders.

He arraigned officers who, he alleged, sell privileges of non-prosecution to criminals, whose business it is to lure men and women of tomorrow to destruction.

These are the demons of the shadows that lurk in the aftermath of excess freedom to the youth of the land. And the shadows in which they live lead down long lanes into foul pits from which young hands, uplifted in appeal, with wider knowledge, terror-stricken in the miasma of evil, are unseen in the darkness that hides all sin from those who walk in the sunshine of right living. The darkness is like a barrier, a different land, a fortress that holds its own in its evil depth.

If parents would organize with one accord for the benefit of the happiness of their children, with the compactness of commercialized vice, the men and women of tomorrow in the years to come will bless them.

Let us make, perhaps, a vice of our virtues, in order that our children may not glorify the virtue of habitual vices that might hold them in chains.

PRESIDENT HOLLISTER OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SENDS RADIO MESSAGE

The following is the message of the Glendale chamber of commerce, broadcasted from the Glendale Press-Newton station, Press building, last night, opening the concert:

"To all the homes in our fair city and beyond her gates, where radio comes tonight, I send cordial greetings from the business men of Glendale—a message of cheer and good-will, of cooperation and fair dealing."

"As in the ancient days, the sturdy burghers composing the merchants' guilds justly held themselves to be the proudest class of citizenship, so today in beautiful Glendale our chamber of commerce holds aloft the banner of commercial supremacy for the fastest growing city in the world."

"Glendale's merchants and Glendale's citizens, through their chamber of commerce, fling wide open the door of welcome to all. We have homes waiting for you, and will build stores for you to open business in. We want you as merchants and we want you as citizens. Come join our fast-growing company of business men— you who live beyond our borders will be heartily welcomed to our rapidly growing company of business and professional men."

"From high Sierra's snowy peaks to far Atlantic's rippling strand has fame of Glendale spread, borne not on ether waves, but set forth on printed page. But as radio attains to full fruition it is not too much to hope that in every nook and corner of this great country Glendale will be a household word."

"Welcome and greetings to all!"

KIWANIS CLUB KEYNOTE OF CIVIC SERVICE IS STRUCK AT MEETING HELD FRIDAY

President Clark Declares the Time Has Now Come
When the Organization Should Turn Its Attention to Community Service

The meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday at the Broadway Inn, corner Broadway and Glendale, proved to be one of the most interesting since the organization of this popular club in Glendale. Additional room had been provided by the genial proprietor for the large number of members and visitors present, and a most appetizing luncheon was served.

Ray Bentley was chairman for the day. The attendance prize given by Mike Berman was won by City Attorney Woodward, and the silent boost prize was provided by the Jewel Electric company, in the form of a radio instruction book, which retails for 25 cents at the book stores.

President Lyman Clark in a few remarks stated that the time has arrived when the Kiwanis club should turn its attention to some matter or some enterprise that needs the boosting of a live organization like the Kiwanis. The various committees will soon be active in their work of assisting or promoting some good cause for the betterment of the city and community.

City Manager Reeves introduced Bob Shuler, the speaker for the occasion, by stating that Mr. Shuler needed no introduction to the people. Although Mr. Shuler's voice was very hoarse, due to overwork, he soon warmed up and delivered one of the most stirring addresses heard here for many moons. The subject of his 30-minute address might be stated as "A Defense of Our Constitution," for it was a masterly effort, urging the upholding of the statutes and the laws of the land.

"If I am here to urge you to support the constitution, and to see to it that the laws of our country are enforced," began the speaker, after a few preliminary remarks and a funny story. "I want to see you rise up as one man and give the foreigner who would make our laws to suit his ideas and ideals to understand that we are Americans, and Americans only will write the laws upon the statute books of our

30 Days in Jail Meted Heir to Canfield Millions

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—Dick Canfield, Jr., heir to millions won by his famous father's New York gambling establishment, must serve 30 days in jail for emulation of his noted father's conduct.

Judge Chambers today pronounced the judicial sentence coupled with a $200 fine on young Canfield, who, according to his neighbors in Hollywood, ran a gambling resort at his Spanish bungalow, where riotous, entertainment was furnished, frequently until dawn.

Canfield was declared guilty of disturbing the peace after his neighbors had concluded lengthy testimony late yesterday.

Canfield posted bail of $500 pending an appeal.

WOODLANDS VOTE FOR GAS MAINS 119 TO 1

Register Desire in Almost Unanimous Fashion to Spend $50,000

By a vote of 119 to 1 the residents of Verdugo Woodlands voted gas into their section yesterday. This is the most overwhelming vote ever cast in Glendale, and it shows conclusively that the folks of that section are a bunch of live-wires.

The installation of this gas system will cost about $50,000. By yesterday's vote the Verdugo Woodlands people propose to bond themselves to this amount and turn the money over to the Southern California Gas company, which will supply that section. The gas company has assured the Verdugo Woodlands people that it will not wait until the bonds are sold to begin the work, but that it will start immediately, now that the bonds have been carried. This work will probably take about 60 days to complete. In the agreement between the company and the residents the company will return to the residents a given amount per installation as rapidly as the connections are made.

At the polls yesterday the Verdugo Woodlands people were enthusiastic over the prospects of securing this much needed commodity for their section. The result comes as a climax to the determined and unceasing fight on the part of the residents of that northern locality. Several months ago the first gas meeting was held. At that session a committee was selected to put the question over. Since that time this committee has been very active with regard to this matter. Several visits were made to the Glendale city council, which body worked hand in hand with the committee, with the result that the matter was brought to an early vote.

It is the opinion of the Verdugo Woodlands residents that the section will experience a wonderful building boom within the next few weeks. It was authoritatively stated this morning that it is the intention of between 30 and 40 lot owners to begin the construction of homes immediately, now that gas is assured. This activity will take place particularly in the original Verdugo Woodlands tract, every lot in which has been disposed of.

GOV. STEPHENS ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

Enters Race Because Reactionary Forces in the Field, He Declares

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—Governor William D. Stephens in a formal statement issued here today announced his candidacy for reelection as governor of California.

"Realizing that because of reactionary activities a change of administration at this time would mean a complete change in the character of the government that this state has endorsed and ratified on many occasions," Governor Stephens announced, "I hereby submit my candidacy."

Enumerating the accomplishments of his administration, the governor pledged himself to continue to stand by "its guiding principles of greatest good to the greatest number, maintenance of law and order and progressive development of the human and material interests of the state."

"I am fully aware that reactionary selfish interests have thrown down the gauntlet in the coming election," he said, "and I feel called upon to fight again for the maintenance of government for the people, by the people."

MISS RYAN WINS
WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 1.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California star, passed through the third round of the British national championship here today when she defeated Miss Harvey, 6-3, 6-3.

ALL GLENDALE TO BACK EAST SIDE ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION PROGRAM

Chamber of Commerce Enlists Its Support Back of the Hotel Project and the Electrification of Glendale Avenue

APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO WORK ON PLANS
Directors Also Approve Civic Committee's Report
Better Telephones for Verdugo Woodlands and Offers Park Cooperation

The Glendale chamber of commerce gave its whole-hearted endorsement at its meeting last night to the proposition of securing a hotel for the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, and to the electrifying of the steam line on Glendale avenue, and it backed up its action along this line by appointing a committee to work in conjunction with the committee from the East Glendale Advancement association which is now working on these propositions.

It also approved the report of the civics committee, of which Dr. Jessie A. Russell is chairman, recommending needed improvements; it approved a report of the railroad and transportation committee, and adopted a resolution endorsing the Boulder river dam. It took up the matter of better telephone service for Verdugo Woodlands, and instructed Secretary Rhoades to prepare for the entertainment of the Southern California secretary association. It also authorized the secretary to write a letter offering cooperation in connection with the opening of the Patterson avenue park.

The matter of assisting the residents of the east side put over the railroad and the hotel propositions, was the big work accomplished during the evening. The board of directors had previously invited the hotel and railroad committee of the East Glendale advancement association to meet with them and confer with them regarding this matter. The matter of asking the co-operation of the chamber of commerce was voiced by C. W. Ingledue, one of the leading members of the east side association, and a member of the hotel committee. He said in part:

"We have come to ask the co-operation of the chamber of commerce in this matter, truly in a spirit of friendship. We are not being driven to ask for this co-operation. The matter of both the hotel and the railroad are pretty well along. We feel, however, that two objects will be accomplished if we folks of the east side and the chamber of commerce join hands in this matter. In the first place the work of putting both of these propositions over will be greatly minimized, and on the other the very act of the chamber assisting us in this work will result in the two sides of the city being cemented together as they have never been before. Helping us in the putting over of these propositions will be to put over the city as a whole. If there have been little feelings between us, we want to forget them. We are ready to wipe the slate clean and to pull together with the chamber for the good of the city as a whole."

In response Vice-President Roy Kent said:

"We, as a board of directors, welcome you here tonight, and we appreciate your accepting our invitation to come and talk these matters over. The spirit of friendship in which you come, looks good to us. We have been wondering how we might be of assistance to you, and how we might help you put these matters over without placing ourselves in an embarrassing position. We are all ready and willing to help to put over anything you may have undertaken, for we know that you would have started nothing except it be for the best interests of Glendale."

As a result of the discussion, two subcommittees were selected to serve with the regular hotel and railroad committee of the chamber. These subcommittees are as follows: Hotel—Roy L. Kent, C. C. Cooper and A. R. Eastman; railroad—Peter L. Perry, George Bentley and Owen Emery. These subcommittees and the regular chamber of commerce committees will work together with the hotel and railroad committees of the East Glendale advancement association. All of these committees will meet and start work on these propositions on Monday noon, the intention being to have all the machinery ready for the drive on each of these propositions late next week.

FIGHTING BOB
SHULER APPEALS
FOR AMERICA

Tells Kiwanis Club Some of the Truths of Alien Menace

Fighting Bob Shuler made a big impression yesterday at the Kiwanis club, when he arraigned the aliens of this country as the principle violators of its laws. He said in part: "I hope that you will forgive me for calling your attention to ships that sailed over chartered seas, piloted of God, and to those brave souls who landed on these shores and who knelt and dedicated their new-found wilderness to the God who guided them. These men found that America was a goodly land. They coveted its fertile fields and timbered hills for their children. So they laid down their lives in battle against the tyrant. They wrote Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence and the American constitution when the noose was hanging ready for their necks. They made just laws for the government of this country and taught their children to respect those laws. They elected men to enforce the statutes and no greater treason could they imagine than that a man thus trusted and empowered should perjure his soul for self or refuse to do his duty because of personal friendship or desire for political advancement."

"Today we face our own souls with the full realization that a mighty change, menacing to our government and disastrous to our civilization, has come. We are faced with the sure fact that not only does organized vice and crime seek to dominate our courts, but in multiplied thousands of instances over this fair land public officials are selling for the pottage of gold and political advancement, the very birthright of the people. Privileged classes of criminals through our cities. Men of large political influence are permitted to defy the law at pleasure while the rank and file, from whom those in public office can expect no profit, are prosecuted insistently."

"Now is this deplorable fact the most grave that we now face. In multitudes of instances, election to public office means today nothing more than an open door to wealth, an opportunity for barter and sale, a chance to 'farm out' privileges to the most vicious criminals and the most damning crimes. That thousands of bootleggers in California are this day protected, while they thrust their poisonous dart of contempt and defiance in the very heart of the constitution of this nation cannot be denied. Seventy-five per cent of this protected class of criminals are foreigners, who neither respect our flag nor regard our institutions."

"We have come to the hour when it is a grave question as to whether or not the making of our public officials, in their attitude and relation to vice, the illicit sale of liquor, gambling and kindred evils, are not a menace to the nation's life rather than an arm of defense for our laws and the constitution. With such a condition facing us, I call your attention to the fact that we must stand in the shadows of the men who died to give America her stability and give an account for lethargy and inactivity, while such forces throttle the very life of our country. Officers who sell privileges to crime and criminals are ten times as menacing to good government as are the crimes they thus sanction or the criminals they thus protect. An officer who will not enforce all the law against all crime is himself a criminal."

A man who solemnly swears that he will enforce the law and then passes over the crimes of certain privileged classes is a traitor in his flag as well as a perjurer of his soul. And we who elect these officers cannot escape our responsibility. For such men to remain in public office without an uprising of the people is a sign of a diseased condition in our body politic that prophesies the most disastrous results."

"The most dangerous thing today in America is the growing disregard for law, and its flagrant violation on all sides," said Mr. Shuler. "In most instances among the young criminals the trouble reverts back to the home. The boy has no respect for his parents, and regards 'dad' as a 'has been,' and the girls do likewise. Although I am forty-two year old I would not dare dispute my father or even disregard his smallest request. He would knock me down with anything he could lay his hands on. I showed disrespect for him that many of the young men of today manifest toward their parents."

"So long as we go after the little fellow and the Chinaman and allow the big fellow to escape prosecution and punishment, just so long will we sow the seeds of discontent and breed anarchy that will eventually prove disastrous to this country."

Mr. Shuler referred to his 'argument' with District Attorney Woolwine in no uncertain terms, and said that the district attorney had failed to make a reply to his charges of protecting vice in the Angel City. Mr. Shuler referred to the Ku Klux Klan by saying: "I do not uphold any man or organization which takes the law into its own hands or violates the constitution of our land."

The speaker was given a vote of thanks for his presence and splendid address, and was urged to come again to another Kiwanis luncheon.

We wish to announce that our new home is located at 2194 North Brand Blvd., and we will be pleased to take our old and new friends out to the Hamilton wells, Huntington beach, at 10 a. m. every day except Monday. H. L. Bentley Co.—Adv.

BIG BEAR LAKE
ROMANCE ENDS
IN WEDDING

Miss Hession of Resort, Becomes Mrs. Walters of Glendale

Miss Nadine Marquerit Hession of Big Bear Lake and J. R. Walters of 1134 East Elk avenue were married Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the home of Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of Central Avenue Methodist church, with Mrs. Daisy Hession, mother of the bride, and O. S. Palmer, uncle of the groom, as the only witnesses.

The bride was beautiful in a white silk suit with shoes and hat to match. The single ring ceremony was used.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for San Diego, to spend several days, and upon their return will be at home to their many friends at 1134 East Elk avenue.

Miss Hession formerly lived in Glendale and was a member of the choir of Central Avenue Methodist church.

NEW MOON CAR
APPOINTS RAY
TALBOT AGENT

Ray Talbot, with headquarters at 324 South Brand boulevard, has just been selected as agent for the new Moon car in the San Fernando valley. The new Moon is one of the automobiles that are creating a real sensation this season. It has the classy lines demanded by the most exacting buyers, and its performance demonstrate that, for actual service, where real merit is called for, the Moon is one of the foremost in the long list of machines on the market today.

The Moon is built by engineers who know, and every car that is turned out is guaranteed by a company that is as strong as a U. S. bond. The ten proven points of the Moon are: Continental Red Seal motor, Delco starting and lighting system, Timken axles, Spicer universal joints, Brown-Lipe transmission, Borg & Beck clutch, Rayfield carburetor, Exide battery, Fedders radiator and Gemmer steering gear.

GLENDALE THEATRE
TO PRESENT GOOD
PROGRAM TONIGHT

The Maderia Sisters, late Orpheum circuit stars, presenting a delightfully clever, offering of "songs, talk and dancing," and carrying their own special scenery, will be the headline feature act on the big new vaudeville bill that is booked to open at the Glendale theatre July 1. These two girls are exceptionally talented and their material is the sort that constantly wins them new admirers. They put over their songs, chatter and dances in the most appealing style. Dell Beattie and Dell entitle their contribution "Conquesting Gravitation." This is a genuine novelty. Richards and Coots have a charming "character comedy singing and talking" offering that is a gem of its kind. Glen Wall is billed as presenting "Thin Lines," which he promises contains "bits of everything." It is an exceptionally quaint act and one that will round out this appealing program in fitting style.

Spain, the blossom land of passion! Spain, the fiery flower land of romance! Spain, the fascinating, blazing beautiful, exotic! To that sunny land of scarlet and gold Reggie Harding followed his wilful American beauty. But she spurned his love!

George B. Seitz is Reggie, June Caprice the American girl, Marguerite Courtot, the Spanish dancing girl, and Harry Semels, the rogues in "Rogues and Romance," the big Pathé spectacle at the Glendale theatre July 1, only. Caprice and George B. Seitz are co-starred, Mr. Seitz being also producer, director and author of the story, to film which the entire company went to Spain.

TERRYS ENTERTAIN
MR. AND MRS. VIELE

Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Terry, 257 Windermere avenue, are entertaining their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Viele, and two sons, of Berkeley.

Yesterday Mr. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Viele and sons, and Horace Mann, motored up to Camp Baldy.

Mrs. Terry will entertain this evening with a dinner party in honor of Miss Elizabeth Burke of Los Angeles, and Horace E. Mann, her grandson, who are to be married on the 17th of July. Included among the guests will be Rev. and Mrs. E. Morgan Isaac, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Mann, of Long Beach.

The boys of the American legion are going to give a dinner for the ladies' auxiliary, two weeks from tonight, which they promise to cook with their own fair hands.

This compliment is in recognition of the services which the ladies rendered them in making the carnival such a success.

BOND ISSUE ASKED
FOR COMFORT
STATIONS

Report of Civic Committee Adopted by Directors of C. of C.

In the report rendered by Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman of the civics committee of the Glendale chamber of commerce at the meeting of directors last night, she stated that she had conferred with the civics committees of the chambers of commerce of several of the leading cities of Southern California, with regard to comfort stations, and they suggested that a bond issue be called to finance a feature of this kind. A suggestion along this line was made by the committee with the recommendation that it be passed on by the chamber of commerce to the Glendale city council. The report also recommended that a time be set for a meeting of the chairmen of the civics committees of the different chambers of commerce around the country, the purpose of this meeting being to talk over matters of interest to civics committees in general, and that would be of benefit to all cities of Southern California. This report was adopted unanimously.

The report of the railroad and transportation committee came as a result of the committee being asked for a report several nights ago on the advisability of recommending the separating of the Central and Southern Pacific railroads. The sense of the report was that such a recommendation should not be made. This was adopted unanimously.

A resolution endorsing the Boulder dam proposition was adopted, and the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to the proper authorities in Washington.

With regard to the matter of the telephone service in the Verdugo Woodlands, several members of the board declared that it was a shame that the Woodlands is compelled to stand for such service. It was declared that in many lines, that are years behind the times, were being used in that section and that it is practically impossible to get connection from the outside with people renting these phones. A resolution was passed ordering the secretary to communicate with the Pacific telephone and telegraph company, and to inform the heads of that concern as to the state of affairs, and to ask for relief at once. A copy of this communication was authorized to be sent to the F. P. Newport company.

Secretary Rhoades was given the authority to go ahead with the preparations for the entertainment of the Southern California chamber of commerce secretaries' association, which is to be held in Glendale on July 29. The plan is to have dinner at Verdugo Woodlands, where the lectures on the Woodlands will be heard, after which the regular business meeting may be held beneath oak trees. After the business meeting the company will return to Glendale and have dinner in the chamber of commerce headquarters.

In the matter of the opening and widening of Patterson avenue park, the secretary was instructed to communicate with the Glendale city trustees, offering the help of the chamber in this matter.

SAN FERNANDO
BUILDING

Building along the San Fernando road has taken on an impetus during the last few weeks and many new structures have been erected. Fred Moore, who has an office at the corner of Wilson and Broadway, has been one of the busy contractors in that section. He has put up three factory buildings, two of which are 20x60, and one 40x100, on Los Feliz road. A cash and door establishment will take over one room while, it is stated, a sheet metal works will have the other. The third building will likely be occupied by a carpenter shop.

Mr. Moore is also erecting a building 50x40 at 1419 South San Fernando road, which will be used as a market and will shortly be occupied. Henry Tobias is the owner of the last named building, and the Ferstenen company is having the first three buildings put up.

Mr. Moore has considerable other work under way, and believes the next few months will witness a high revival in building in this section.

FERRY FAMILY
GOES NORTH

Peter L. Ferry and family, of 614 East Acacia street, will leave tomorrow for a stay of one week in Yosemite. They will make the trip into the valley by train and will return via the bus route.

JUNE HOP OF ALUMNI IS HELD

Graduating Class Honored in Function During Which They Dance

The graduating class of 1922 was honored Friday night at the annual June "hop," given by the alumni association of Glendale high school. The affair took place in the beautiful auditorium of the chamber of commerce, with about 30 couples present. Splendid music for dancing was furnished by Sid Gorman's yncopators. During the evening, refreshing punch was served. Those on the alumni dance committee are Frank Balthis, chairman; James McCluskey, Jane Snyder, David Polz, Lucy Strothers and Guy Bennett, and much credit is due them for the success of the affair.

There were graduates of many of the older classes present, and it seemed good to get together and talk over old times.

BUTTS-HITS THE ROAD GOING NORTH

H. M. Butts, of the Monarch auto supply company, his wife and two sons, Frederick and Horatio, will leave tonight for Big Bear, making the trip up by night, and will return to Glendale Tuesday night. R. C. Plumb, also of the Monarch auto supply, and wife, will make the trip up Monday night. Mrs. Plumb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butts. This is one of the few occasions when the family can get away on a trip of this sort together, on account of their business hours and being open Sunday mornings.

THE JACK JENKINS
GIVE JOLLY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins, of 1743 Tenth street, Grand View district, were host and hostess Friday evening at a jolly dinner party, given in honor of Mr. Jenkins' brother, C. L. Jenkins.

Decorations were in yellow and white, daisies and coreopsis being used. Rosebud favors filled with candies were in the same color, as well as placards, which marked covers for seven.

Following the dinner, the evening was devoted to cards. Plates were set for Miss Mabel Richards of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jenkins and daughter, Eloise, Mrs. Edith Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins.

LADIES' AUXILIARY
GIVES THANKS

The Ladies' auxiliary of the American legion wish to thank all those who so generously made donations and gave of their time and services and contributed to the great success of the carnival on June 23 to 24.

There were a large number of dishes left on the grounds unclaimed, and these can be obtained by their owners at the clubrooms of the American legion in the basement of the library building.

Wherever you are going, don't forget our fireworks, at 52 South Raymond avenue, Pasadena.—Adv.

GLENDALE IS NEW SOCIAL UNIT

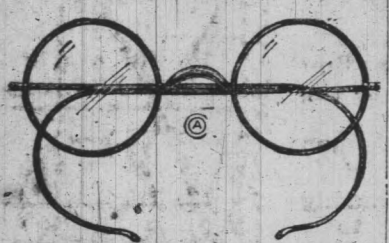

Organized for Recreation and Entertainment, Announces Plan

Glendale as a whole may not be aware of the existence of a certain thriving club, comprised of a group of progressive young men, who, having felt the lack of a Y. M. C. A. athletic club or like institution, have united to supply this need, styling themselves the Glendonians. They hope to make the vicinity for which they are christened, proud of its namesake, and glad to be the home of the Glendonian club. Resting on the ideals of sociability and fraternity, it will stimulate enthusiasm for the best in entertainment and recreation. A program of brilliant fall activities is already on foot, a series of dances is being arranged by the house committee and a theatrical hodgepodge of one act plays, burlesque, vaudeville stunts, and musical numbers, will be presented early in the season under the direction of Booth Franklin. President Tom Griffith hopes to announce that adequate club quarters will have been established within the next month.

DURANT CONQUERS H. G. L. CLUB OF RIM OF WORLD LA CRESCENTA SAY FAREWELL

The famous "rim of the world" drive in the San Bernardino mountains, the course over which the annual San Bernardino hill climb run, has been conquered in high gear by the Durant Four.

This latest feat of the Durant is recognized as one of the greatest demonstrations of power ever recorded in the annals of the automotive industry. For several years motorcar men have been trying to get over the famous grade in high gear, but it remained for the Durant to be the first car to negotiate the Waterman canyon and Switchbacks in high gear.

The car used for the remarkable run was absolutely stock in every detail. Frank Podas of Los Angeles, was the driver, and his mount was a demonstrator borrowed from the Los Angeles store of Earle C. Anthony organization. Fekfers, top and windshield were removed, according to A. A. rules, as a safety measure; but throughout the car was stock, even to piston rings, ratios, tires and wood wheels.

The equipment was inspected by representatives of the press, and declared to be strictly stock before they sealed the car in high gear. They were present on the grade when the run was made, and attested the fact that the Durant "four" was the first automobile to ever go over this difficult course in high gear. The Durant went over on the first try and the party returned to Los Angeles for an early breakfast.

The Durant Four is handled in Glendale by the I. G. Cooley Motor Co., 212 South Brand. I. E. Doty, manager.

DR. AND MRS. CRUISE VISITING GLENDALE

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Cruise of Warren street, Chicago, have been spending the past few days with Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Reichenbach, 1514 South Gardena avenue. Dr. Cruise came to California to attend the dentists' convention, which was held at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles, from July 13 to 21, inclusive.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Cruise are enthusiastic over the beauties of Southern California and think Glendale is the most wonderful place they have ever visited. Deep down in their hearts they are expecting, as are millions of others, to make this place their home at some future date.

TALENTED PUPILS PLAY IN RECITAL

Much local talent was displayed Friday evening in the delightful recital given by the pupils of Mrs. C. A. Parker, 212 North Orange street. It was a very large and appreciative audience that gathered at the Parker home, and by urgent request of all present Mrs. Parker sang several encore numbers.

The violin numbers by Kenneth Cowan of Los Angeles, were splendid, as were all numbers on the program.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by Mrs. Parker, who was assisted by Mrs. G. D. Roach and Mrs. John A. Wright, accompanist.

bowling to Mrs. Cleophas, 337 North Central avenue. They may also be obtained from the chamber of commerce, Glendale Music company and Loomis-Shuck Music company. If purchased at either of these places, the sum of $2 will be turned over to the Tuesday Afternoon club for every $10 season ticket sold.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDesky of the Ansonia apartments, Los Angeles were guests Friday of Miss Eva Daniels, 324 West Colorado street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Perry of 111 North Louise street have been in quarantine for the past three weeks on account of Mr. Perry and daughter, Nerilenta, having diphtheria. They hope to have the quarantine lifted for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kilg of 720 South Maryland avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Halstead and son, left today for Sulphur Springs, near Santa Paula. They expect to be gone four days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hermon are moving Wednesday from 529 Vine street to 1305 East Stanley avenue. Mrs. Hermon will leave the last of next week for Kenwood, Calif., where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cookson, for three months. Her sister, Mrs. A. M. Hanson, who was Miss Edith Cookson before her marriage three months ago, will also join her at Kenwood.

H. G. L. CLUB OF LA CRESCENTA SAY FAREWELL

Give Party for the Misses Grimes at the Keefer Home

LA CRESCENTA, July 1.—A farewell party for Misses Louella and Sybil Grimes, by the H. G. L. club, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keefer, last Wednesday evening, was one of the most enjoyable events of the past week. The Misses Grimes are leaving shortly for Sacramento, their new home. The guests included Misses Dorothy and Virginia Keefer, Janet Culbertson, Vera Anderson of Oakland, Eunice Bissell of Long Beach, Hazel Steele, Sara and Jessie Conlin, Peggy Fenton, Lorena Czernicki, Messrs. Dean Culbertson, Romain Passmore, Walt Young, Carol Foy, Donald and Robert Hendrix, Emerson Steele, Billie Eastman and Mr. and Mrs. Keefer.

FIREWORKS PERMIT AT LA CRESCENTA

Anyone wishing to have fireworks for the Fourth of July must secure a permit from C. J. Young, Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues, or Charles Waste, New York and Michigan avenues.

LA CRESCENTA PERSONALS. Miss Marguerite Hauber has purchased the home of Mrs. Phoebe C. Dumphy on Montrose avenue.

H. S. Kulp has opened a plumbing establishment in Montrose, on the corner of Honolulu and Montrose avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Peck and family, and their mother, Mrs. Louise Naud, left Tuesday for Venice, where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

THE EDMONDS TO TRAVEL NORTH

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds will leave early Monday morning for Oakland, where Rev. Edmonds is scheduled to deliver five addresses at the annual state Christian Endeavor convention. He will also occupy one of the prominent pulpits of Oakland on Sunday morning, while the convention is in session. Rev. Edmonds has been a popular speaker at state Christian Endeavor conventions for a number of years.

Cantilever Shoe

"Hand Troubles" Are Unheard of

Because the hand is always free. Foot troubles are common because in ordinary shoes the foot is cramped in their movements. Their freedom is restricted by the unyielding sole of the shoe. The muscles are cramped by a last that does not fit. But your feet are free as a Nature intended in the Cantilever Shoe.

flexible. There is no steel "shank piece" in Cantilevers as in most shoes to check the play of the muscles. With every step, the shoe bends as the foot bends. The muscles grow strong, enduring, healthy from the exercise of walking. Thus Cantilevers strengthen weak arches and prevent and correct flat foot.

The last of Cantilever Shoes conforms to the outline of the foot. The bones are not pressed together, as in an ill-designed shoe. The muscles are not pinched. There is plenty of toe room, and the toes lie in their natural position. Cantilevers are smart looking and they add to your appearance. They encourage graceful carriage. The heels are fashionably low and broad. Change to Cantilever Shoes this week and enjoy their refreshing comfort.

The First Four

In Congress, July 4, 1776.

The following declaration of principles was agreed to on July 4, 1776, and is thus recorded in the Journal of Congress for that day:

Agreeable to the order of the day, the Congress resolved itself into a committee of the whole to take into their further consideration the Declaration; and, after some time, the president resumed the chair, and Mr. Harrison reported that the committee have agreed to a Declaration, which they desired him to report. The Declaration, being read, was agreed to as follows:

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect for the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its power in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

1. He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

2. He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be attained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

3. He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

4. He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

tic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in our attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war; in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connections between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

BENNETTS HAVE C. E. GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bennett, of Hill drive and Paloma avenue, delightfully entertained the senior Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church at their new home on Tuesday evening. Games and refreshments were enjoyed. The summer executive of the society has just taken charge of the work, and this was their first move to gather the young people together for the summer.

CAMPFIRE CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT EAGLE ROCK

Miss Christensen of Central School Is Guardian

A Campfire club has just been organized by the girls of Eagle Rock city, under the guardianship of Miss Christensen, of the Central school. The following officers were elected at the first meeting, which was held at the Central schoolhouse.

Miss Lotta Bannister, president; Miss Harriet Jeter, secretary, and Miss Ruby LeClere, vice-president.

The members of the club are Lotta Bannister, Harriet Jeter, Ruby LeClere, Margaret LeClere, Gladys Hodge, Mary Stewart, Vivian Hodge, Janet Ward, Wanda Arbogast, Juanita Arbogast, Edna Forsyth, Consuela Tully, Fern Feaster, Clarice Jarvis, Lorain Marshall, Lydia Barry, Henrietta Houston and Phondona Coldren.

The purpose of the Campfire organization is very similar to that of the boy scouts. It carries with it the idea of service to others as well as a royal good time for all those who belong. There were 18 girls present at the first meeting, and it is hoped that there will be many more at the next one which will be held on Monday at 2 o'clock at the Central school, when plans will be made for a picnic the following Monday.

Dr. B. E. C. Slawson, who has been visiting his home at her home, 802 West Colorado boulevard, for the past two months, has returned to his home at Rolla, Mo.

The meetings of the association will commence in September, and will be held in Roland hall, Columbia building, on Third street, Los Angeles.

MR. DOW'S FAMILY MOURN HIS LOSS

Word has been received at Eagle Rock of the death of Mr. George Dow, of South Pasadena. Mr. Dow was a resident for many years of Madison, Wis., but moved to South Pasadena about 8 years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Brush and Miss Ella Dow, and a son, George Dow.

Mrs. Brush and Miss Dow are well-known in Eagle Rock. They are members of the Gamma Phi society of the University of Wisconsin, and members of the Alumni Association of Southern California.

HUNDREDS ATTEND LAWN FETE AT ARBOGAST HOME

Grounds Are Thronged by Function in Aid of Congregational Church

Quite the biggest and most enjoyable event of the season, was the garden fete held last night on the grounds of the Arbogast residence, at 212 North Highlands avenue, for the benefit of the building fund of the Congregational church. It is estimated that there were at least 600 present.

The wide lawns, with the low shrubbery and trees and miniature lake, formed an ideal setting for the affair, and when the lights were turned on it was a veritable fairyland. Myriads of gaily colored Japanese lanterns were strung all over the grounds and tennis courts.

Long tables were spread under the trees, and luncheon and dinner were served in cafeteria style. Delicious home-cooked foods were served, and it is reported that at least three hams were consumed. The ladies who had charge of the cafeteria were Mrs. Allspaugh, Mrs. Quitting, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. York, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Berger, Mrs. Miner, Mrs. Nootbaar, Mrs. Hagan and Mrs. Stephens.

A fish pond furnished rare amusement for the children during the afternoon. All sorts of mysterious prizes were hooked on the ends of their lines. The pond was in charge of Mrs. Elderkinn and Miss Pratt.

And of course there were fortune tellers, who could infallibly piece the veil of the future. These seers were Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Roche and Mrs. Fiske.

Cards were enjoyed during the afternoon, and Mrs. Winters was in charge of this feature.

Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Vardenman Bailey, Mrs. Albert Bailey and Mrs. Tepper presided over the candy booth.

The ever-popular punchbowl was in charge of Mrs. Claude Williams.

Mrs. Cutts supervised the games, and Mrs. Chivers had charge of the ice cream booth.

The boys of Mr. Ede's class saw that everyone received his share of soda pop.

An unusual attraction was the vanity booth, where powders and cold cream could be purchased. These were donated by Mrs. Roche.

A novel for a garden fete was the serving of hot waffles and coffee. The crisp brown waffles were made on electric waffle irons—behold your eyes and while you waited.

During the entire day there were radio concerts, and in the evening dancing on the tennis courts. The music for this was donated by Sam McKee and his orchestra.

The ladies were very much gratified at the success of the fete. They are working tremendously hard to accumulate a large enough fund so that a new church may be erected in the very near future. The present church, which is noted for its beauty, and which a few years ago was awarded the first prize in a contest for buildings of this character, has long since been outgrown, and is now too cramped and crowded for the large congregation. Plans are already being laid for a big bazaar in the fall to increase this building fund.

Practically everything was donated, and the Ladies' aid society desired to thank all those who contributed in every way to the great success of their fete.

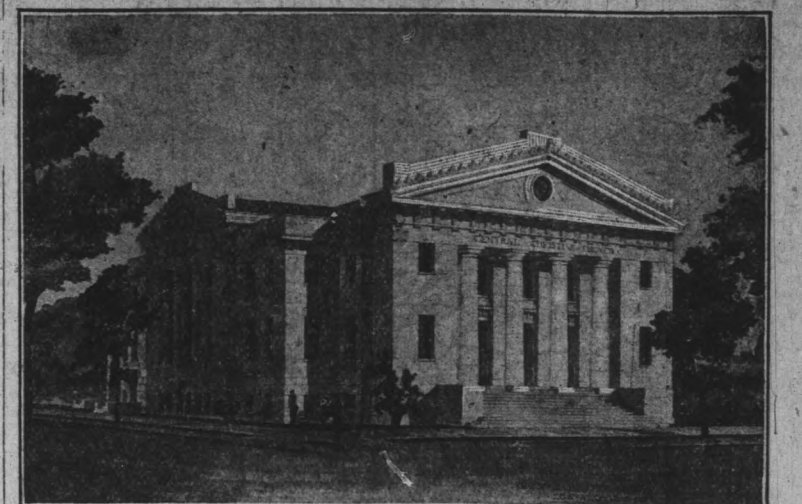

DAILY VACATION SCHOOL OPENS AT EAGLE ROCK

Mingled Bible Class Picnics and Hikes in Course

The daily vacation Bible school will open at the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church on Wednesday, July 5. It is for all children of the valley, and something doing all the time is promised. There will be Bible stories, craftwork, picnics, hikes, and many other things to keep everyone busy.

The daily vacation school movement is rapidly growing in favor. In the large cities it is said to cut down the rate of delinquencies to a large extent, due to the fact that it keeps the growing mind so busy that it has not time to get into mischief.

NEW CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED ON SUNDAY

The long-awaited day of dedication of the new Central Christian church has arrived, and the beautiful new temple of worship will be dedicated with due ceremonies on Sunday, July 2.

This new building is the expression of the congregation's belief in the future of a great and growing city, and of their undying love for the cause of New Testament Christianity and the extension of the kingdom throughout the whole world. It is the result of five years' program, and will be dedicated to future generations, since it is built around the child.

On Sunday morning, Sabbath school will be at the regular time, 9:30, followed by the morning worship at 10:30. At this service there will be special music, Mrs. Floyd Mercer singing "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." James G. Warren, president of the state board of the Christian church, will make a brief address. Rev. George L. Snively will deliver the morning sermon on "The Fundamentals of Our Faith." At noon, luncheon will be served to everyone caring to participate.

At 2:30 p. m. the memorial and communion service will take place. Special musical numbers have been planned. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Calvin Whiting, will sing "Sanctus," by Gounod. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton will give the address, "The Old Days, the Old Friends and the Old Ways."

The evening service will begin at 7:45, at which time the presentation of keys will take place, in which Floyd Mercer, chairman of the building committee, will present them to William B. Kirk. Dedication vows and petitions will be led by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Cole, and there will be special music.

CHEVROLETS MOVE AT EAGLE ROCK

"We are enjoying a steady run of business," says Mr. McCrary, of the Holly Motor Sales, Inc., of Eagle Rock, "and each week shows more Chevrolets on the streets of this city. All of this bespeaks of a confidence, not only of the Chevrolet car, but of the quality of service this firm is endeavoring to give."

"We are more than enthusiastic over the prospects for the future. Things are looking brighter every day. We are endeavoring to give every customer a square deal and we believe that our policy along this line is being appreciated."

The members of the Holly Motor Sales, Inc., speak with the highest praise of the loyalty shown by the people of Eagle Rock in the "buy at home" movement. The Eagle Rock people are regular "home folks," in a business as well as a social way.

EAGLE ROCK PERSONALS

Dr. and Mrs. C. Beauchamp, of 201 North Acacia avenue, are going on a fishing trip to Big Bear, and expect to be gone about a week. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Conner, of Alhambra, who formerly lived in Eagle Rock city.

Mrs. C. W. Rogers, of 433 South Douglas street, has just gone north to visit her sons, Harry M. Rogers and Charles A. Rogers, at Berkeley.

METHODISTS TO HOLD PICNIC

The First Methodist Sunday school will hold its annual summer outing at Sunland park this afternoon. Included in the program starting at 3 o'clock, will be a series of baseball games, played by the following teams: Men's Bible class vs. Young Men's Bible class; Intermediate boys vs. Junior boys; Baracas vs. Seniors; Senior girls vs. Intermediate girls and winners vs. winners.

There will also be games for the smaller children, these to be under the direction of Misses Ross and Lookabaugh. The program for the older ones will include foot races, tug-of-war, potatoe race, sack race and cracker race. Dinner will be served at 5 o'clock. Mrs. S. A. Davis being in charge of this event.

Mrs. Rogers has a special interest in making this trip, as a baby girl has just been born in the family of her son Harry A. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers will be gone for about two weeks.

Miss Lotta Bannister, of 243 South Sierra Vista drive, is the most envied of all her girl friends. One day last week, Clara Kimball Young was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bannister, and she brought with her a gold bracelet as a graduation gift from Miss Bannister.

SOMETHING WRONG WITH TRAFFIC SAYS CHENU

Motor Vehicle Department Head Gives a Few "Inside" Tips

There are a number of things wrong with automobile traffic, and automobile driving in the state in general, and particularly within the cities, according to Director C. J. Chenu of the state division of motor vehicles.

Chenu has recently completed an executive tour of the state and the principal criticism he makes is that drivers run too close together on the highways. He noticed many cars closer than the legal distance of 15 feet and he declares this is not only a violation of the law, but extremely dangerous.

"Many of the rear end collisions," said Chenu, "undoubtedly are caused by just this thing. When the man in front stops suddenly the man inside fifteen feet behind cannot stop, and plunges into him. Drivers should observe this prescribed distance."

Shenu says it appears, particularly about Sacramento, that drivers think one light is sufficient at night. Observations recently made reveal a great many violations of the headlight law in this city, says Chenu. And a raid is promised this section shortly. Chenu declares there is no excuse for headlight violation, inasmuch as there are headlight test stations where lights may be properly adjusted.

The director also issued a warning against the use of certain lenses which he says are illegal with ten or more candlepower bulbs, when used at a tilt of four feet or more in one hundred feet. He says there are many of these upon the highway and they make a dangerous glare. Persons caught with them during the proposed raid here will be promptly arrested, the director warns.

Another law violation noted by Chenu is the habit of driving on the left side of the road.

UNSIGHTLY SIGNS ARE ELIMINATED

The action of the California highway commission in keeping unnecessary signs and other structures off the right-of-way of the state highways has been seconded by the supervisors of Kings, Tulare and other counties who are following the same policy.

AUTOMOBILE IS AS STRONG AS ITS BATTERY

Tow Rope Follows Going Down of the Battery

An automobile is just as dependable as its battery, just as a chain is as strong as its weakest link. If the battery fails nothing remains but to tow the car in to the nearest garage and either buy another battery or have the old one put in workable shape.

"For this reason it pays to get a good battery right at the start," said Manager Wishart of the Westinghouse battery service, corner Glendale avenue and Colorado street, this morning. "The Westinghouse battery costs but very little more than the 'just as good,' while at the same time it carries that sterling quality that assures unsurpassed service and long life. It is a real friend to the motorist."

TIRES MUST HAVE FEELINGS; THEY DO GET HOT

So Says the Manager of the Automobile Tire Co., Glendale Branch

"Tires are like humans in that they respond favorably to good treatment. The pneumatic will pay their owners many dollars in service for proper care, and will deduct as many dollars of service for abuse. Just as a man can sustain so much in weight and suffers in injury when overloaded, so does the tire."

"If a piece of cord is sold with a guarantee that it will support a certain weight, one naturally would expect it to break if that weight were doubled, points out the manager of the Automobile Tire company, Glendale branch, this morning."

"In fixing the weight which a tire should withstand a certain margin of safety is allowed, but the laws which govern the load a tire will sustain are just as inexorable as those which govern the strength of other manufactured articles."

Up Where the Birds Sing In the Out of Doors Today

The Squirrels May Bark But They Do Not Bite, and the Country's Full of Wild Delight, and the Prettiest Streams Babbles of the Sea

There's a place up in the mountains, just north of Uplands, where the birds sing and the squirrels bark, and where the big outdoors may be found in all its glory—where one of the prettiest streams of this section of the country tumbles ceaselessly over the most wonderful boulders imaginable. This stream has, through years and years of constant falling, worn away its rugged, uneven path from which it never strays, all of which makes it more beautiful, more wonderful and more appealing.

From this brief description, the reader naturally thinks of Camp Baldy, one of the most beautiful little resting places in Southern California. The first trip of the writer to this resort was made about a dozen years ago. At that time it was known as Camp Baynam, one of the best "mixers" in the country and a fellow who could hold friends when he gained them. It was a party of about 20 folks, young and old, of which the writer was a member. Charlie made room for the bunch about 150 miles down stream from the camp, which spot, by the way, is now all built up with beautiful mountain cabins, one of which is owned by Attorney Oliver O. Clark of this city. There are probably other Glendale people who are residents of that wonderful little mountain "city" by this time.

Well, when this party blew into Camp Baynam all of the camping paraphernalia had been carried down to the camping spot by Charlie. It had been sent up a day or so previous and included everything from tents and stakes to picnic hams. There were sides of bacon, cases of canned corn, beans, peas, tomatoes, cases of cookies, several stalks of bananas—everything, in fact, that might be needed in the mountain camp. Several cupboards had been erected by the accommodating management, which even carried down the cots and mattresses and helped to erect the tents and all that. And all this was right on the bank of that wonderful tumbling stream—can you imagine it—about 15 miles from civilization, and away from gaze of even the inhabitants of the upper camp. The crowd went there for a stay of two weeks and it stayed five—which is a pretty good recommendation for the camp and its management. And when the time came to leave for home regrets were plentiful. Oh, boy, that was "some" outing.

Well, that's Camp Baldy, where the motorists of Glendale who follow the weekly trip suggestions offered by The Glendale Press will go this week. It is a place that can be easily reached in a day without anything that looks like hard driving. Leave Glendale via East Colorado boulevard and following that thoroughfare through Eagle Rock, and on across the Colorado street bridge and into Pasadena. Drive straight through Pasadena and La-manda Park to Santa Ana avenue, where turn north (left) and proceed two blocks, then turn east (right). The motorist will then be on the celebrated Foothill boulevard, one of the most beautiful drives in Southern California. This road runs through a number of little foothill cities located at the base of the San Bernardino mountains, more beautiful hills than which cannot be found anywhere.

Drive straight out the Foothill boulevard to Monrovia, where a jog of several blocks to the right is made. Road signs will indicate the route and if the motorist follows these markers he cannot lose his way. After leaving Monrovia continue straight east to Duarte, where another right jog is made, after which the road continues eastward to Azusa. Drive right through this town, a mile or so out of which a left jog will be encountered. Drive past the town of Glendale, and out over this boulevard past San Dimas canyon, and past the road leading to Claremont, then straight ahead to Uplands, one of the leading foothill cities in San Bernardino county.

At Uplands the motorist will leave the Foothill boulevard, going north on San Antonio avenue. After starting up this avenue the motorist cannot lose his way. After passing a short distance through citrus orchards and the like, over a wonderful highway, the motorist will soon hit the canyon and mountain roads, after striking which each turn in the road will produce its own wonderful view. In past years it was necessary

WILSONS ARE BACK FROM 600 MILE TRIP NORTH

With Mr. and Mrs. Munn They Pack Into Mt. Whitney Country

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, 249 Burchett street, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Munn, of 350 Arden avenue, returned a day or so ago from a jaunt of almost 600 miles into the Bishop and Independence country. They started out with the intention of going over the divide from Bishop into Yosemite, but as the snow was too deep they had to abandon this idea after reaching Bishop. However, they rambled back as far as Lone Pine, from which point they packed into Mt. Whitney country.

Mr. Wilson, who is manager of the service department of the George T. Smith company, 228 South Brand boulevard, says that the most wonderful thing about the trip was the performance of the Willys-Knight touring car in which the trip was made. He states that from the time the party left Glendale until the return, only a pint and a half of water was consumed, notwithstanding the fact that most of the trip was over desert country.

At the foot of Mt. Whitney there is a group of a large number of lakes and a number of these were visited by this party. Mr. Wilson states that trout of all sizes could be seen in these lakes and also in the streams, but as the fishing season does not open until July 1 in Inyo county, they were unable to catch any. Their pack train consisted of four burros and a guide, besides the members of the party.

On account of not being able to fish the party returned home earlier than expected, but it is the intention to make the trip again sometime in August.

KEEP REGISTRATION NUMBER VISIBLE

Parts of the registration numbers on cars are sometimes hidden by extra tires, bumpers, tail lights or other equipment. This is contrary to the motor vehicle law. Mud and dust at times render these registration numbers indistinct. State laws require that the numbers shall be displayed conspicuously at all times.

for the camping party making a jaunt up this canyon to pay a toll charge of 50 cents a machine and 25 cents a person, but this charge has been removed so that the motorist can now enter without charge. The reason for this change was that the road was owned and maintained by the San Antonio Water company, and the toll was charged to help in this maintenance work. However, several months ago this road was taken over by the government and at that time the toll charge was lifted.

It is a canyon and mountain drive of ten to fifteen miles from Uplands to Camp Baldy, but every inch will be enjoyed. Before starting on this trip the motorist should make sure that his brakes are in the best of shape and that the "old boat" is working right. One particular point on this road that has justly been given considerable publicity is the "hog's back." This is a winding, steep bit of road possibly half a mile long. It can be easily made by the average machine, and little trouble will be experienced in making any of the grades on this mountain trip.

Camp Baldy is one that will bring the tired business man back to his "old self" as quickly as any point in the country. A person can have just as much activity as he craves. There are all kinds of jaunts that can be taken out of this camp—to Cow canyon, to the old mines, to the hermit's cabin—and a hundred other places. Then, too, the motorist can enjoy a game of tennis, croquet or the like or may lope around beneath the shade of the wide-spreading oak trees. During the summer there is dancing each evening on a good floor, which is almost completely covered by the branches of the oaks.

Camp Baldy is an ideal mountain camp. It can be easily made from Glendale in a day—by starting early and returning late—but it will prove more enjoyable if a stay over night is made. By applying at any of the touring and information bureaus in Los Angeles, accommodations for tents or cottages may be secured. If the motorist is carrying his own camping equipment he will find many places where he can pitch his tent.

In order that the return trip may in no way prove tiresome the motorist will be directed along an almost entirely different route from that taken while going out. The canyon road will, of course, have to be followed to Uplands. After arriving in Uplands the motorist will start west along the Foothill boulevard and continue westward to a point a couple of miles west of the entrance to San Dimas canyon, where the road leading to the town of San Dimas will be encountered. Continue through San Dimas and on to Covina, thence along the El Monte-Covina highway to the city of El Monte, thence on through Savannah and to San Gabriel, and on along Huntington drive into Los Angeles. From Los Angeles take any of the routes to Glendale.

The start home, if this route is followed, should be made not later than 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This will result in the motorist covering most of the homeward trip

MAXIMUMS FORM TIRE MAKERS' PROBLEM

Greatest Resiliency Plus Most Strength Is Objective

"How to combine the greatest possible resiliency with the greatest possible strength is the problem facing every manufacturer of high-grade tires," according to C. H. Raudebush, sales manager of the Western Auto Supply company, 205 South Brand, distributor of Western Giant Cord tires.

"The maximum of neither can be employed because the maximum of one can be obtained only at the sacrifice of the other."

"For instance, an inner tube furnishes an example of a theoretical life of the greatest possible resiliency. The riding qualities of such a tire would be marvelous for the mile or two it would last, if it would hold pressure enough to support the car."

"On the other hand, the solid truck tire is an example of the greatest possible strength, no punctures, no blowouts, no rimcuts and

UNIFORM SIGNS ARE NEEDED

Adoption of a system of uniform highway marking throughout New England is to be undertaken this season, and it is expected that the plan will be extended to cover the whole United States. It will displace the present varied system of color bands and other signs in the different states, so that motorists traveling through a number of states will not be confused in keeping to the right road.

Can't understand why city should swing all their business to the Fahrenheit thermometer company. Why not give Mr. Centigrade's firm a share of it?

The last possible mile of service down to the last shred of rubber. But what an awful ride it would give one at 35 miles an hour.

"So, to combine these two qualities in the greatest possible degree is the aim of tire engineers, to produce a tire that will permit a motorist to travel in comfort at any speed desired and yet will stand up and deliver the mileage, too."

"The problem has been solved, apparently, to as near perfection as human beings can hope to come, in the Western Giant Cord tire. Here we have the desired resiliency and the tough rugged tread that stands the road shocks and abuse and delivers long untroubled miles," concluded Mr. Raudebush.

WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY CO. EXPANDS

Business Grows So That It Becomes Necessary To Secure More Room

The business of the Western Auto Supply company has increased to such extent that it has become necessary for the company to secure larger quarters. The store at 207 South Brand boulevard, adjoining the press store, has been leased and carpenters are at work removing the partition between the two rooms.

When the partition has been moved the shelving on the south side of the store will be moved to the south side of the addition. The space in the middle will be devoted to more cafe bins, one of the features of Western Auto Supply system. A larger general supply store will be installed and the equipment will be more elaborately displayed after the new room has been completed.

MONARCH AUTO PROPRIETOR GETS 'EM BIG

H. M. Butts Hauls in 51 Baracuda in One Day Off Shore

H. M. Butts, one of the proprietors of the Monarch Auto Supply company on Southern Brand boulevard, is one of the record fishermen of Glendale. He four-neved down to Redondo the other day and from that watering place he took a boat out onto the briny deep.

Shortly after leaving the pier the fireworks started, and when the final curtain dropped at the close of the day he had just 51 baracuda to his credit. That's going some for a fellow who hands out genuine Ford parts and camping accessories and conveniences all through the week. It proves conclusively that a fellow who is a good salesman also makes a good angler.

Well, when "H. M." got back to Glendale he had the time of his life handing out baracuda to his multitude of friends. The odor of frying, baking and stewing baracuda that came from Mr. Butts' section of the city on the night of his return was something really astonishing.

He declares that "next time" he is going to remember his newspaper friends when handing around his bountiful catch.

PROGRAM TO BRING MOTORISTS RIGHT TO ATTENTION

A wide-spread and intensive consideration of the rights of motorists and pedestrians is being conducted at the present time by the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Some interesting results are expected from this investigation, which will possibly have a direct bearing upon the regulations of street traffic throughout America, it is declared by local club officials.

At the present time the pedestrian usually gets the best of it, it is pointed out, and has an unrestricted freedom of the highways and streets which is not accorded in the same measure to the owner of an automobile.

The auto club's object in looking into the matter, with the possible intention of suggesting new laws for California is for the adjustment of affairs between the motorist and the pedestrian so that both may function more harmoniously.

Now, as things stand, the pedestrian is allowed to wander into the highway or street at will, wherever and whenever the spirit moves him and with no regard to any moral rights which the driver of a motor car may have, it is pointed out by the authorities. That this freedom of the streets might well be regulated is the contention of thousands of motorists, according to auto club officials.

RADIO CONFERENCE COMMITTEE MEETS IN WASHINGTON

The second session of the General Radio Telephone Committee, headed by Dr. S. W. Stratton of the bureau of standards, appointed by Secretary Hoover to prepare a draft of an agreement of wave-length assignments for amateurs and commercial transmitting stations, met on Monday, April 17, at the department of commerce at 10 a. m., to raise the laws and regulations.

Recently this committee recommended that radiophone sending stations be grouped into 20 different wave bands between zero and 4,000 meters, as follows: Trans-oceanic telephone experiments, 5,000 to 6,000 meters; fixed service radio telegraphy, 2,850 to 3,300; mobile service radio telegraphy, 2,500 to 2,650; government broadcasting, 1,850 to 2,050; fixed station radio telephony, 1,550 to 1,650; aircraft radio, 1,500 to 1,550 exclusive; government and public broadcasting, 1,050 to 1,500; radio beacons, exclusive, 950 to 1,050; aircraft radio, exclusive, 850 to 950; radio compass, exclusive, 750 to 850; government and public broadcasting, 700 miles inland, 700 to 750; mobile radio telephony, 650 to 750; mobile radio telegraphy, exclusive, 525 to 650; aircraft radio, exclusive, 500 to 525; private and toll broadcasting, exclusive, 310 to 435; restricted special amateur radio telegraphy, 310; city and state public safety broadcasting, exclusive, 275 to 285; technical and training schools (shared with amateurs) 200 to 275; amateurs (exclusive, 150 to 200) shared with technical and training schools, 200 to 275 meters; reserved below 150 meters.

It is understood that, as soon as the committee definitely agrees upon the standard allocation of wave-lengths, Representative W. L. White, Jr., of Maine, will introduce a bill in the house of representatives to provide the legislation for Secretary Hoover to control legally the allocation of radio waves and administer the operation of all radio transmitting stations.

WIRELESS COLLEGE

Entering a field of almost limitless possibilities in the realm of education, Tufts college has announced the completion of plans what is probably destined to be the world's first wireless college.

The college already has a "faculty" made up of some of the most eminent scholars in their respective fields, who, by means of the telephone broadcasting apparatus at the American Radio and Search corporation plant at Medford Hills, Mass., will twice a week give free lectures to more than 35,000 persons.

Nothing approaching this plan spreading instruction has ever been devised, even by extension or correspondence schools. Some of the institutions number their students by the thousands, but the lectures of the new Tufts Wireless college are made only by the number of people who cannot afford to purchase the simple and positive apparatus for receiving wireless telephone messages.

It will, of course, be no charge instruction. In having no tuition fees, no buildings, no campus, no enrollment, the Tufts Wireless college will be unique among colleges of the world.

The initial statement it was clear that the lectures will be a popular nature and not the understanding of the subjects of young men and boys especially interested in wireless.

Also the lectures will not exceed 30 minutes in length and will be delivered in such a way that "listeners" can take notes if desired.

Some of the lecturers will be women, many of whom are well known in the radio telephony world. Those in charge of the course at Tufts point out by the use of the sound amplifier it will be possible for scores of persons to hear the same lecture from one receiving apparatus.

BUSINESS GROWTH

In submitting national figures covering radio broadcasting, Arthur Weisenberger, director of the bureau of research and information of the National Retail Dry Goods association, indicates the surprisingly large growth which has taken place within a short space of time. The data, in the form of a comprehensive survey, have been compiled with particular reference to the part the department stores play in radio merchandising.

It is brought out that broadcasting stations of the standard 350-meter wave length in the United States number over 100, representing a 50 percent increase within the last month. Department store broadcasting stations of this type are stated to have increased 100 percent during this period, and at present, constitute 13 percent of the total number. There are more than 200 manufacturers engaged in the manufacture of radio apparatus, according to the survey, and their number is growing.

An interesting fact brought out in the figures presented is that there are more broadcasting stations in the middle west and in the Pacific coast than there are in the east. In each of these groups of states, the number of stations broadcasting is 35, whereas there are only 28 in the Atlantic seaboard group.

CLIMBING MADE EASY; USE MAXWELL

L. P. Clark, Local Distributor, Tells of Remarkable Experience

"We are accustomed to hearing of seemingly impossible hill climbs made simple by the good Maxwell," says Lyman E. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, Maxwell dealers, "but one of the most remarkable I have ever heard of in my entire experience is reported from a small town and a big hill down in Arizona."

"Schnebley Hill, on the fringe of the desert, overlooking Sedona, Ariz., is seven miles long. It is really a sizeable mountain. The road to its summit is no more than a wagon track, boulder-strewn, curved and double-curved almost impassable. A mighty task to climb for an automobile, you'll agree, under the most favorable conditions. Yet, a good Maxwell touring car reached the summit of Schnebley Hill, carrying 10 passengers plus 100 pounds of water, which has been added to bring the load up to 1500 pounds."

"At some points the hill reaches a 30 per cent grade. In one spot where there is a pitch of this degree the party encountered deep, sticky clay, placed in the road to repair dangerous washouts, but the good Maxwell pressed through it all and on to the crest."

"The descent, as well as the climb, had to be made in low gear and carrying a super-excess load when most cars would have groaned for mercy. The members of the party, all of whom were prominent business men in Sedona and Jerome, Ariz., believed that their driver had taken on a job bigger than any car could well handle, but after the performance they were more than willing to furnish an affidavit giving their account of the trip. The facts set down here were taken from that document."

DOOMED TO REFUSAL

The growing popularity and use of the radiophone has brought added troubles to the White House. President Harding has been literally deluged with requests from all parts of the country and all kinds of organizations to deliver to them speeches or messages by radiophone. He has been besetted to do everything from opening church bazaars to addressing a few words to national conventions of various kinds. The President, however, has decided to play no favorites by refusing to start any such practice. For that reason, all such invitations are doomed in advance to refusal at the White House.

RADIOPHONES

We have heard a great deal about campaigning by radio and recently there was a controversy over sending out speeches from the government broadcasting stations, ending in the closing of navy stations to all of the political parties. Plans are now being perfected so that each party will have their own broadcasting station at headquarters.

A Washington dispatch says that the control of the next congress will lie largely in ether. It is learned that both house and senate, eager to help matters along, are ready to go ahead with bills giving Herbert Hoover control of air currents. Efforts are being made to obtain an exclusive wave length for a broadcasting station to be installed in the offices of the Republican national committee at Washington. The Democratic national committee is also looking around for funds to establish a similar outfit. So it appears that, whether we like it or not, we are to have politics in the air. We have too much politics already. Nearly 90 percent of the radio enthusiasts listening in on a political tirade are going to tune out the communication or throw their radio equipment out the window.

RICKENBACKER CAR IS BIG HIT

Transfer of Franchise to Glendale Motor Car Company

One of the big developments in the automobile business in Glendale during the past week was the transfer of the Rickenbacker franchise from William H. Hooper & Co. to the Glendale Motor Car company.

The Rickenbacker has proven to be one of the best selling motor cars ever introduced on the American market. Its selling record has been phenomenal. More Rickenbacker cars have been sold in Southern California since the first of April, when this car was first introduced, than has ever been sold in such a short period of time by any other six-cylinder car in the history of the automobile industry.

"There are three distinct causes for this phenomenal selling record," said Mr. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company.

"First, Eddie Rickenbacker's popularity throughout the world as a racing driver and his wonderful record as an American ace of aviation during the World War."

"Second, the fact that Eddie Rickenbacker has had more experience testing out and building various kinds of motors than any other racing driver, and the Rickenbacker motor is the development of his years of experience, which has developed an absolutely balanced motor, entirely free from any motor vibration."

"Third, the beauty of line, comfort of riding, and ease of handling which has been a surprise to every one who has ridden in or driven the car."

"We feel that we are very fortunate in being able to get the Rickenbacker line for this territory," said Mr. Clark.

AIRPHONES FOR THE VACATIONIST

Vacations are soon to be with us and each person has an idea of just the right kind of a pastime while resting up for the coming fall business. The vacationist may travel by boat, automobile or train, but he usually takes with him some one of his hobbies most dear to him. In recent years, almost everyone going on a vacation included in the baggage a phonograph, so they might have music during the evenings after a day's play. But now the vacationists have radiophony with music first hand, and a receiving set will displace the phonograph, when the old trunk is packed.

The tired business man will not want to keep in touch with the worries of business while on a vacation. A little entertainment, however, is much to be desired. The airphone will furnish him this. He can tune out the business part of the messages.

POLITICIANS WILL USE HUNT THIEVES BY RADIO

Details of a daring $2000 daylight robbery in the store of the Central Lock and Electric company, Philadelphia, were broadcasted by radio by the proprietor, Earl E. Saeger. "Such occurrences should be given the greatest possible publicity," Saeger said. "The thieves leisurely opened packages, rifles drawers and tore the place inside out—and they got away with their booty."

UNDER-THE-HOOD SPECIALIST IS NEW MECHANIC

Times Have Changed, J. & K. Garage Manager Points Out

Declared to be a development of the present automotive age seldom appreciated to the extent it really deserves is the increasing demand for efficient workmanship in automotive mechanics other than that immediately concerned with the power plant of a car.

"Whenever the need arose for new paint or new body equipment on his car the motorist of yesterday," said Mr. Jeilison of the J. & K. garage, 1006 South Brand, "was wont to call in the assistance of the same garage handy man that divided his time between exploring the greasy insides of one automobile with a monkey wrench and supplying gas and oil for another."

"But now specialized workmen attend to the under-the-hood mechanics of a car and leave the fuel-dispensing to other men. And the establishment whose services are particularly those of automobile body remodeling and adjustments, repainting and adding new equipment, requires just as much specialization, skillful workmanship and facilities."

"Motorists are beginning to realize this. Evidence of this fact is found in the appreciation shown by car owners for the specialized service that, because of our extensive facilities and experience, we are enabled to give at prices that otherwise would be taken to represent work of much lower quality."

RIVER STEAMER USES RADIO

The "Island Queen," an Ohio river steamer, equipped with one of the first wireless outfits on a river steamboat, was utilized by the Junior chamber of commerce of Cincinnati for the organization's second annual boat ride.

Truths in Epigram

The fashion wears out more apparel than the man. — Shakespeare (1564-1616).

A little neglect may breed mischief; for want of a nail the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe the horse was lost; and for want of a horse the rider was lost. — Franklin (1706-1790).

FOSTERING EDUCATION

One thing certain to strike the visitor in southern California, is the beauty of the commodious school buildings. In almost every community the structures housing the schools are so modern that the aspect of newness has not worn off. It is evident that they stand as an expression of local pride and ambition. They say as plainly as though in words "nothing is too good for the education of children, the future citizens."

The new edifices do not always mean a freshly settled community. The cause of popular education never has been neglected here. Very often they mean that old buildings have served their purposes, have been outgrown, and replaced by those having the most advanced facilities. In instances the schools do stand where yet population is sparse, built a little ahead of their times, but on the promise of early and certain growth that will make full demand on capacity.

While this is true of the public schools, higher education is being conducted in numerous institutions of the first class. Universities, including a branch of the state university, are available. There are several colleges of excellent standing. Private schools, military and otherwise, are heavily patronized. The California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, familiarly known as Tech, has won to scholastic standing on a plane with the Boston school of the same type.

Probably there was not a high school in this end of the state that failed to graduate this year the largest class in its history. A similar increase has been noted in the grades. In Los Angeles alone an issue of $17,400,000 of bonds for school buildings, endorsed at the polls nearly fifteen to one, supplies funds for meeting the enlarged demands for space. In many of the smaller towns clustering about the city a similar spirit has been displayed.

As it is progressing materially, so also does southern California desire to grow in intelligence, and in wise citizenship. It regards its schools as of vital importance to these ends. That it has boundless faith in their efficiency, the schools themselves attest to all observers.

REGULATING THE ALIEN

Congress is having a hard time in devising an immigration law that shall be just to all concerned, and rigid enough to be protective of this country's rights. The problem of the United States is in many respects unique. No other country is the goal of so many aliens, and in no other are aliens perceived in so unrestricted a sense. That is to say, when they arrive, they are here permitted to become a law unto themselves. Before they have learned to speak the language plainly they are able to assert that any attempt to regulate their movements is "un-American." So they go whither they please, engage in whatever activity suits them, carry with them the atmosphere and sentiment of the old world, and if they brought the notion of hostility to government, which frequently they do, engage in efforts to promote anarchy, bolshevism, or their favored social fad.

Notwithstanding the fact that many undesirable immigrants have been received, development of the country demands that the gates be kept open, at least to a selected number. Such as come here with the ambition to work and to become Americans, learning as fast as they may, of the spirit of western institutions, are welcome. They are needed, and the process of assimilation will transmute them into citizens of fine character. All these facts have to be borne in mind as congress seeks to impose safe and proper regulation of the incoming stream.

Congressman Johnson's immigration bill would seem to more nearly meet demands than the measure now in force. While it reduces the percentage of each race admitted, it makes arbitrary exceptions of 600 for each country. This would save much embarrassment. Under the rule as now applied there has been occasion for turning back applicants whose admission would have been satisfactory, and whose rejection either was unwarranted hardship, or easily to be construed into a national affront.

THE SHORT LIFE

A recent issue of the daily papers contained the notice of the death of two prominent and highly useful men. Each had been stricken in the very prime of life. One was S. L. Naphtaly, who passed away at San Francisco, aged 47. The other was Edward H. Wallace, banker at Long Beach. Each had been more than ordinarily successful. Mr. Naphtaly was one of the best known and ablest engineers in the United States. He had been a factor in many large affairs, regarded as an authority, a strong man of initiative and force. Mr. Wallace was called suddenly just after completion of a successful financial deal, one of the many he had carried through. He had attained the age of fifty.

At fifty a man should be at his best, his mind still active and his body able to endure. This does not mean that youthful athletic powers have not waned, and youthful ambitions become quiescent. It is not necessary that the director of big industrial or financial concerns should be a sprinter, adept with the boxing gloves, capable of swimming in record time or of handling weights. These are attainments that interest the mature only as spectacles. He has no reason to desire to participate in them, and has no occasion to regret lack of ability to do so. For the allotted task he still has the essential strength unless his powers have been unduly taxed. Yet these two in the midst of useful activities, were called from their work.

"Men live in deeds, not years" it is true. The thought of dying while still in harness is not displeasing to the industrious. Nevertheless, it is the wont even of the most ambitious, to look forward to a time when they may, at ease, behold the fruits of their toil. At least as they look about them, and see that men much older still fill a place in the commercial world, the expanding world where they themselves have wrought, they hope to be spared to long usefulness. Often this is not to be. Without warning the alert mentality is veiled, and the hand raised in vigorous purpose, falls inert.

Science and invention have done much to render life easier and in theory the human span has been extended. But life also becomes more complex. Its rivalries more bitter, its aspirations more mercilessly driving. Men forget sometimes that there is anything to life but a mad racing towards achievement. They forget themselves. They over-crowd their vitality. They die when before them there might be stretching a long term of years, not all for labor, but in part for rest and peace, and the joy of memories.

From his retreat at Doorn the ex-kaiser must have regarded with keen interest the ceremonial mourning of the German nation over the victim of a monarchist group of murderers.

Evolution by Fumbling

By DR. FRANK CRANE

What is the matter with the world? That is a big question, but sometimes the biggest questions may be satisfied with the simplest answers.

You might say that nothing is the matter with the world except what has always been the matter with it and always will be. And in one word that is—Evolution. What makes all the trouble in the world is that it is always growing.

Perhaps the most valuable contribution to human thought is the idea of evolution, which was practically brought out in the nineteenth century. It affected every realm of human thinking. Theologically it converted the intelligent world to the view that God grew mankind like a tree and did not carpenter mankind like a house.

Philosophically it eventuated in pragmatism and the conception of truth as a fluid and progressive thing, and not as a fixity.

Politically its logical result is democracy, which implies a condition of freedom in which peoples grow, and develop governments instead of having theorists saddle governments on them.

Now, it is an essential corollary of Evolution that something should be always wrong, in the sense of being always imperfect. For there can be no constant growth without a constant betterment.

There must always be weakness to become strength, buds to become flowers, callow youth to become manhood. There must always be outworn shells to be discarded by the growing animal, bracts to be cast by the unfolding flower, and the house of life is not without its garbage can, whither go old clothes and outworn creeds.

What we call progress is entirely due to man's curiosity and his disposition to make experiments. As a recent scientific writer said, "A creature that fumbled could never have developed civilization and human intelligence." Mankind does not get on as the result of reason and deliberate planning; it just muddles ahead.

All permanent success is built on the rubble stone foundation of multitudinous failures.

The difference between the optimist and the pessimist is that the optimist thinks the world is still green and unripe; the pessimist thinks the world is over ripe and rotten.

As this is a free country, I choose optimism. (Copyrighted by Dr. Frank Crane)

(Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

parallel—Double the first l, not the second; as, these lines are parallel.

coming—Do not spell this word with an e; as, he is coming.

necessary—Double the s, not the c; as, that is not necessary.

unnecessary—Double the n and the s, not the c; as, it is unnecessary.

continuing—Do not spell the word with an e; as, he is continuing his work.

Cincinnati—Repeat the cin and double the second n; as, he lives in Cincinnati.

discernible—A c follows the s; spell with i instead of a inible; as, truth is not always discernible.

mispronounce—Spell with one s; as, do not mispronounce words.

there—An introductory word or an adverb; do not spell it there; as, there is a pencil on my desk (introductory word); there he is (adverb).

their—The possessive case of the pronoun they; as, their opinion is known.

Yesterday's Error

"Anyways, one's artistic sense would seem to demand."

Never say anyways; drop the s; as, anyway, one's artistic sense would seem to demand.

Vocabulary

"To the efficacy and permanency of your union, a government for the whole is indispensable."

"Farewell Address" by George Washington.

Efficacy: "The quality of being efficacious or effectual; production of, or the capacity of producing, the effect intended or desired; effectiveness."—Century.

Pronunciation: ef'-i-ka-si (e as in get; i as in habit; a as in winnow; i as in habit).—Century, Standard, Oxford and Webster.

For observation: See efficacious, effectual, and effectiveness in the preceding definition; effectual (adverb); efficiency (noun); efficient (adjective); efficiently (adverb); Origin: efficacia (Latin).

THE LISTENING POST

The Youth and the Philosopher were talking of cabbages and kings.

As Stevenson said.
Meaning that a cabbage and a king are far apart perhaps.

And there are many things in between.

A cabbage is a very humble thing.

And a king is a very distinguished individual.

And in between are the things of earth.

That may be talked about.

And it is by talking of things that we disseminate knowledge.

By the exchange of reflections we learn.

Sometimes by word of mouth.

Sometimes by printed word.

Sometimes by pictures and sculptures and music.

So the Philosopher and the Youth were talking.

On values.

For it is well to have an understanding of values.

Just as a merchant or a banker or a buyer or a seller must have a sense of values.

But the knowledge of values in the world of spirit and morals is a greater thing.

For material losses can be remedied or repaired.

But spiritual and moral losses often mean helpless bankruptcy.

And the Youth declared that fame was the greatest thing in the world.

And the Philosopher said no.

That the greatest thing in the world was self-respect.

That fame was a bubble that bursts.

But that self-respect lasts through life if we will.

And the Youth said that Justice was the greatest need of the world.

And again the Philosopher said no.

He said that it was not possible to say what Justice was in every case.

And that the thing most needed by the world was kindness.

And the Youth said Beauty was the most attractive thing in the world.

And the Philosopher said Beauty was temporary.

Vanishing often like a shadow.

And that Happiness was the most attractive thing in the world.

And the Youth asked the Philosopher to sum up the treasures of life as he had found them to be greatest.

And the Philosopher said:

Self-respect.

Kindness.

Happiness.

Serenity.

Generosity.

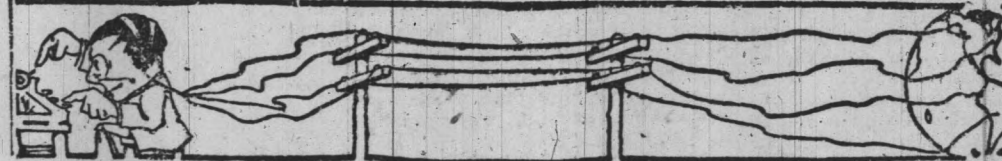

Forgiveness.

Understanding.

And he made no mention of Wealth or Power or Justice or Beauty or Fame or any of those things.

Except as they might contribute to happiness and kindness and self-respect and the treasures of the soul.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Conclusion—Sir Walter Raleigh (1552-1618)

Even such is Time, that takes in trust

Our youth, our joys, our all we have,

And pays us but with earth and dust;

Who in the dark and silent grave,

When we have wander'd all our ways,

Shuts up the story of our days,

But from this earth, this grave, this dust,

My God shall raise me up, I trust.

Blind Wonder Deceives Self; Can't Smell Colors in Dark

Willetta Huggins, the 17-year-old blind and deaf girl of Chicago who recently astonished doctors with a demonstration of apparent ability to name colors by the sense of smell and to hear by the sense of touch, really has a remnant of sight and her deafness is probably hysterical, declares Dr. Joseph Jastrow, professor of psychology of the University of Wisconsin.

Who has examined her and believes that she is deceiving herself and others in her pretense to remarkable powers. He made the investigation for the American Medical association.

"In every practical sense," he says, "the girl is blind and has no central vision whatsoever. The possibility of a slight vision is, however, by no means excluded. In bringing objects to her nose to smell ments than have yet been made to decide whether this is a case of hysterical deafness, but the psychological laboratory possesses a technique sufficient to determine whether the girl deceives herself in the belief that the vibrations conveyed through her finger tips make her hear the sounds which really reach her through auditory channels.

When, unknown to Miss Huggins, the rod that is regarded as essential to carry the vibrations was actually not in contact with the speaker's head, she replied to questions quite as well as though the contact had been established.

"The reason Miss Huggins is accredited with these unusual senses is through the conviction that her sight and hearing are useless. My examination does not bear out such a conclusion."

It is to determine the actual status of this sense. It would take far more careful experiments than have yet been made to decide whether this is a case of hysterical deafness, but the psychological laboratory possesses a technique sufficient to determine whether the girl deceives herself in the belief that the vibrations conveyed through her finger tips make her hear the sounds which really reach her through auditory channels.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

One Livermore is said to have lost a fortune of millions in gambling in Mexican petroleum. He used to be known as the "boy plunger," and the title sticks yet. The boy orator and the boy preacher have similar difficulty in growing away from their reputations.

The purpose of this paragraph is to state that nobody cares particularly when a boy plunger or one who is fully grown loses a fortune. He may comfort himself with the reflection that at the worst he has lost something he never earned.

There is genuine admiration for the energetic man who is able to acquire a fortune by any form of honorable work, by invention, by shrewd investment in realty, by constructing a railroad, by operating a bank, by manufacturing a good plow or an effective pill. There is none whatever for the man who seeks to win by using loaded dice; and when the dice do not roll as he had hoped it is useless for him to look about for sympathy. There is none on tap to fit his case.

It seems to be a rule that whatever profits result from an invention, the inventor gets a small share, or none. Usually he sees the profits go to somebody who has frozen him out. Often the man who advances capital, perhaps a trifle needed at a crucial time, ends up in possession of the whole works.

Recently a man who had advanced $5000 to an inventor brought suit for a 40 per cent interest. He won his case. His immediate winnings are said to amount to $8,000,000. This was one of the exceptional instances in which the inventor not only got rich, but seems to have balked at keeping his bargain with the friend who had put him across.

Sectarians in sessions at Redlands went on record, with enthusiasm, in favor of a series of blue laws for California. These they wish to have pertain to observance of Sunday. On that day they have certain methods of enjoying themselves. Their desire seems to be to have other persons obligated by statute to enjoy themselves in the same manner.

With the kindest of wishes towards the little group, it may as well be said frankly that their scheme will not work.

Fighting in China is ended for the present. Probably this is good news. Certainly if it means restoration of permanent peace, it is good.

A united China might be a dangerous unit. Still, it would not be likely to hurt anybody who would do it the courtesy of letting it alone. It certainly would be a more pleasing spectacle than a nation divided and engaged in shooting up its own towns.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This morning the Old Bookseller dropped in. For fifteen or more years I have bought practically every book in the house from him. His advice has been good, he has been interested in his job, and when I go to look 'em over he does not hand me a volume patiently while he broadcasts his suffering to the pretty clerk. Maybe he has put in more time talking books with me than has been strictly justified under the modern rules of efficiency. On the other hand he has—as I have said—had all of my business. And I've spent money for books I really needed for rock and rye and new tires.

"Why don't you come around any more?" he asked me. "Are you angry? I haven't seen you in more than a year."

"I don't come around any more," I said, "because I can not afford to buy books. And I do not propose to be tempted."

The Old Bookseller admitted that books were too high. Not to speak of being too many. Seven out of ten, he said, that are published nowadays—yes, nine and a half out of ten—are not worth buying by buyers who buy to keep. But the one book in twenty, he said, is very much worth while. It's excellence is obscured to the public by the curtain of published trash, perhaps, but its excellence is there for all that.

"The best of the books being published today," he said, "will compare favorably with the best of the books published at any time since the old Gutenberg press began working. Why don't you come in and buy these few best? Granted that the prices are too high—I'll admit they are too high by twice—you are simply cheating yourself out of the best of life by not buying them."

But I disagreed. In other years I spent money I could ill afford in buying books. Most of them were good. Some were commonplace. Some were actually putrid. But I bought them because I could afford to do so, and if I made a mistake it was not a serious one.

"I'm saving money now," I told the Old Bookseller. "Not only am I not buying any books at all, but I am reading the books I bought years ago. And the best of them are as good as the best of today's. And timeliness doesn't count."

The Old Bookseller asked me if I had read Voltaire's Philosophical Dictionary. He said that it was worth forty of the new books.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

Some people are always finding fault. Now the statisticians are mourning over the fact that feminine America spends nearly as much to decorate her face as she does to adorn her mind: $750,000,000 a year for face powders and perfumes, and $1,000,000,000 for education are the figures presented by them. Probably they're correct. Grave statisticians have a habit of so being.

"Extravagant woman!" Thus exclaim the moralists. But why blame us? Blame rather the general scheme of affairs, the teachings of everyday life. What everybody knows is that a talented young woman can spend years of her life and all the money she can muster gaining education and then as a reward get at the most a paltry thousand or two a year for teaching the young ideas, while a girl can spend a dollar or so for cosmetics and a month of time—sometimes less—and win a husband worth his millions. No wonder that, in the struggle between face powder and education, the latter loses. Our young people are canny—even without book knowledge. Life teaches them.

And hold! Right here comes the statement of that man who, in addressing a certain pharmaceutical association, declared that every man who pays proper attention to personal appearance at the present has his own favorite powder and his own favorite perfume.

Just another of the secrets that man has been keeping from us! Wives, take notice! All the spending of that $750,000,000 cannot be laid to us.

Also, those same statisticians may think that, enough smoke raised over this subject, the rather tender one of tobacco using will be obscured for them!

Just so long as we put a premium on mere good looks, as even learned men have been known to do in choosing their wives, just so long will good looks be striven for. And so many look only at the mere surface. Why censure for adorning that?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

The southernmost permanently inhabited spot on the globe is Laurie Island, in the South Orkneys, southeast of South America. The government of Argentina maintains a meteorological station in this inhospitable spot, which is generally ice-bound and has not even wintered.

FRISK'S MOST FOOLISH NOTION OF ALL

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

It was morning before Frisk Squirrel opened his eyes. Where was he? Curled up between Malty Kitten and Tad Coon, the two of them snoring. Some tall grass was arched above him, and a chilly grasshopper crawled up a stem to warm his bony legs into working order in the early sun. Frisk's grubby little paws went up to catch him.

The cat's eyes flew open. "No, no, no! You mustn't eat!"

"Why not?" asked Frisk. He'd forgotten all about his tummyache of the night before.

"You've been very sick," Malty informed him. "Dr. Muskrat said you mustn't have a thing but milk before noon."

"But I'm awful hungry," wailed the fluff-tail. "I haven't any milk. My mammy isn't here. Maybe that little lady rabbit would give me some. Ta'phobing she would if I got her a cocoon?"

"No, I don't s'pose," Malty made a wry face as he remembered the kind of cocoon Frisk thought folks liked.

"We'll go to the barn and ask Tommy Peele," he should have explained that it was the Red Cow who gave the milk, and that Tommy Peele did the milking. But he didn't think. He had to get Tad awake and moving.

Frisk seemed well and gay as he

How Malty and Tad did laugh! "In the dish!" giggled the cat. "In the dish, you silly thing. You've got to learn a new way of drinking. A dish! Frisk had never heard of one. But, of course, he jumped down when he saw the sweet, warm milk go splashing into it. And then he learned. His little

SOUTHERN PACIFIC AND TRUCKMEN FIGHT

Merry War for Business Is on With Both Sides Determined

An interesting fight is on between the Southern Pacific and the Motor Truck Owners' Association of California. Both sides are fighting for the freight conveying business of the state, and as both factions have considerable financial backing and are determined to win out a real interesting struggle is under way.

A "Southern Pacific Good Service League" has been formed, and according to its publication known as "The Bulletin," "from present indications good work will be accomplished by the organization."

Officers have been chosen by the league and T. L. Chess, city passenger agent at San Francisco, is president and P. T. Daugherty, chief clerk to the foreign freight agent, is vice-president.

As stated in "The Bulletin," the principal objects of the league are: To assist in combating truck and bus line competition; to enlighten members on matters pertaining to railroad transportation to enable them to discuss intelligently its various phases; to obtain business for the Southern Pacific Railroad company and to encourage cordial relations between the company and the public.

It is reported that at a recent meeting employees were told that the growing inroads into railroad business by trucks and busses are threatening the jobs of railroad men, as decreased earnings of the railroad result in a reduced force.

It is stated in "The Bulletin" that to protect themselves it is advisable for employees to work against the competition of highway carriers and definite plans are being made by the league to carry its case before citizens at large.

"Furthering the plan of education," pink tongue went faster than the cat's and the coon's two big ones, once he found out how to lap it up. Yum!"

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Crude Material Does Not Resemble Finished Product of Auto Tire

Crude rubber differs so much in appearance from manufactured rubber that only those familiar with it would be likely to recognize it as rubber. Rubber is obtained from many plants and trees in the tropics and it reaches the markets in many varying forms.

Para rubber makes its way to the markets in the form of "biscuits," large balls weighing about sixty pounds each. They are a rich brown in color. The native worker in the Amazon district makes these biscuits by dipping a wooden paddle into the latex—the liquid rubber—as it comes from the trees—and then holding the paddle with the rubber that adheres to it in the smoke of certain leaves and nuts until the latex is coagulated. When the first layer is thoroughly ing the public to recognize the value of the motor truck and the important part it plays in the everyday life of the community, state and county, the Truck Owners' association is starting on a campaign of education calling attention to the various important lights in which the truck serves," said Phil Jacobson, secretary-manager of the association as he watched Miss Gertrude Stedman of Universal film fame post one of the propaganda cards.

"It is the desire of the motor trucking interests to bear their proportion of the highway maintenance and building expense, but in ascertaining what that taxation shall be they desire to be heard in the proper light. We are posting 10,000 of the slogan cards with the following slogans on the highways in this territory.

"From Mine to Mill to Consumer."
"The Solution of Progress and Prosperity."
"Truck Service Is Fast."
"Truck Service Is Direct."
"They Feed You the Motor Truck."
"From City to Rural District."

COMMISSION LETS PACHECO PASS CONTRACT

Seventeen Miles of Coast Highway Will Be Paved at Once

Substantial progress toward carrying out the 1922 program of the California Highway commission on the Pachecho Pass lateral highway was made when the following two contracts were awarded in Sacramento:

One contract for grading 8.5 miles, and paving with Portland cement concrete for 5.1 miles between the westerly boundary and San Luis creek was awarded by the California Highway commission to Pacific Construction company of San Francisco. The contract price, not including materials which the State may furnish, is $125,586.50.

The other contract was awarded to Blanco & Taylor of Vallejo, to pave with concrete the highway between San Luis creek and Los Banos, 12.2 miles. The successful bid was $216,550.50, not including materials which the state may furnish.

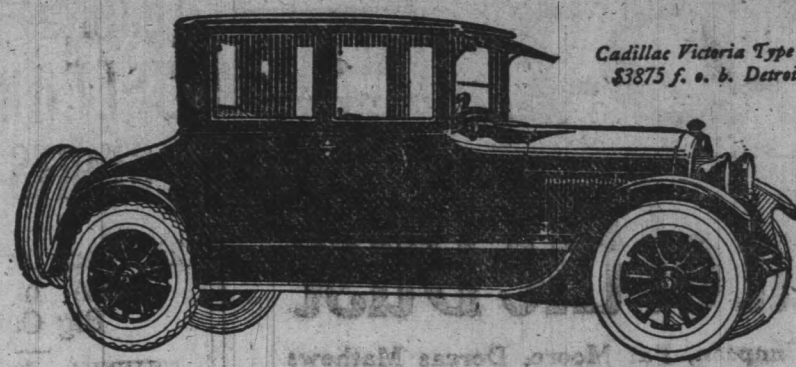

smoked the paddle is again dipped, layer and all. So the biscuit is built up.

Into the production of crude rubber on the plantations of the Far East, on the other hand, have gone the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the scientific minds of the white race with the result that the rubber coming from the plantations is very largely free of impurities and carefully packed.

Rubber comes chiefly in three forms, smoked sheets, thin pale crepe and thick pale crepe. The thick pale crepe looks much like tripe. It is made up in sheets about one-half inch thick and has a lemon tint. Thin crepe is made in sheets about as thick as heavy flannel and looks like flannel. The lemon color being more pronounced.

Smoked sheet might easily pass for the black molasses candy. It is about a quarter of an inch thick and has a deep brown color, verging on black. It smells decidedly like bacon.

CADILLAC

Cadillac Victoria Type 61
$3875 f. o. b. Detroit

We had thought that we realized just how eager a following this fine Victoria has attracted.

But the demand for the Type 61 model has exceeded even the furthest flight of our fancy.

Of course, much of its appeal is due to the innate power, dependability, and gliding smoothness for which so many people turn to Cadillac.

However, it is no secret that few motor cars in the world can boast a presence so finished and so fashionable.

That and the fact that the Victoria provides such convenient association for four, are perhaps the special reasons for its popularity.

It is our simple duty to forewarn you of the growing demand if you desire prompt delivery of a Cadillac Victoria.

TUJUNGA-SUNLAND CELEBRATION STARTS TODAY

Chambers of Commerce
Unite in Staging
Big Carnival

TUJUNGA, July 1.—Tujunga and Sunland united today in the beginning of a 4-day celebration at Monte Vista park, Sunland, Tuesday, the Fourth of July, will be the climax of the affair; and it is expected that the ample accommodations of the park will be overtaxed to accommodate the crowds from surrounding cities.

The carnival is of particular interest to residents of the Tujunga valley, as the proceeds will be applied toward improving Monte Vista park and adding to the equipment there. Monte Vista post, American legion, has charge of the concessions outside of the park and announce a variety of fun producing events.

One of the main attractions of the carnival is the boxing program. Four bouts daily will be given. On Sunday and the Fourth baseball games are scheduled. This is the largest celebration given in the park for sometime, and it is believed that the results will fully justify the time and expense given to its production.

Park Picnics Prove Popular
The Sunday school picnic of the First Methodist church of Glendale is being held this afternoon and evening in Monte Vista park. As summer goes on, more and more organizations are taking advantage of the conveniences the park has to offer and are holding picnics there. The Southern California Edison company and the Kelman electric and manufacturing company have recently held picnics at the park.

COUNTRY INN TO FILL LONG WANT

"Southern California has been waiting for a place like this—a unique country inn where one can go with his mother, family and friends for the enjoyment of appetizing food," said Mr. Lawrence L. Frank, president of the Montgomery Food company, operating the inn, and also head of the Van de Kamp Holland Dutch Bakers. "Our appeal is primarily to persons of refinement. There will be no dancing or 'entertainment.' We know that the majority of the people want fresh and wholesome food, well prepared, and a place that is delightfully different from what they see day in and day out. "Our location is ideal. It is only a short ride from the downtown of Glendale, yet it is in a section that is quiet and country-like. Light lunches and refreshments are served in one section of the inn building, while an adjoining building is devoted to fresh fruit and vegetables. The inn is named for Mr. J. F. Montgomery, vice-president and treasurer, whose Norman ancestors operated a similar place in the old country. Mr. Walter Van de Kamp is secretary of the company.

NOTICE CALLING FOR BIDS

On Tuesday, July 11, 1922, and thereafter on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each calendar month up to and including June, 1923, the Board of Education of the Glendale City Schools will receive, at their office in Glendale, California, bids on work to be done and materials and supplies to be furnished. Such bids will be opened at 8:00 P. M. on the days designated, and contracts awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Lists of work to be done and of materials and supplies to be furnished may be obtained at the office of the Board on or after the first and third Tuesdays of each calendar month.

THE COMFORTERS

JAMES W. FOLEY

"When with agony again
Fall the burning tears like rain,
Who will stroke the brow of anguish
Who will come and comfort Pain?"

And a Voice said: "I have suffered, and my tear fell like the rain;
And the touch of me is gentle; let me come an comfort Pain."

"Who will walk a while with Grief?
Who will come and bring relief
To the broken heart of Sorrow,
Who will walk a while with Grief?"

And a Voice said: "I have sorrowed and my heart prayed for relief,
So the heart of me is tender; let me come an walk with Grief."

"Who will kiss the cheek of Shame
Seared with red scars of flame?
Who will ease the tortured throbbing?
Who will kiss the cheek of Shame?"

And a Voice said: "On my forehead was a crimson scar like flame
So the soul of me hath mercy—let me kiss the cheek of Shame."

So they came, the ones who suffered and who sorrowed and were shamed,
And they soothed with mercy's ministries, and judged not nor they blamed,
For the touch of them was gentle and the hearts of them gave heed,
And the souls of them had mercy for they knew its boundless need.

MERCHANTS' TEAM MEETS TOUGH OUTFIT

Managers Association to Tackle Local Organization

The Glendale Merchants are to face one of the toughest baseball teams in the Managers' association on Sunday. They are booked, to put on nine innings of pastime with the Los Angeles Herald team. This team is said to be made up of heavy hitters and topnotch fielders. Boss Cobb and his gang of horsehide wallopers figure that Sunday will be a good time to wipe out the stigma of defeat that has been hanging over the Merchants ever since the game with the Talbert Whiting team last Sunday. The Merchants lost their first game this season by a 2 to 0 score.

The localshave been practicing steady ever since that last sad Sunday and Boss Cobb feels that he has a lineup prepared that will mean "slow music and flowers" for the hopes of victory cherished in the breast of the Heraldists.
Johnson and King have been chosen to put across the horsehide and to receive it. The lineup, as they will bat, is as follows: Wilson, shortstop; Harris, center field; Cummings, second base; Acosta, third base; Cobb, first base; King, catcher; Kearns, right field; Agee, left field; Johnson, pitcher.

"OUT OF THE DUST" AT THE T. D. & L.

Charles Ray in "Barnstormer" As Added Attraction Tomorrow

Pisturegoers who attend the showing of "Out of the Dust" are certain to rub their eyes and gaze in amazement at a film which goes back to the pioneer days of the industry and the West at the same time. This is not saying that the picture bears the stamp of early production methods. Far from it. The offering depicts a story which was the "baby" of them all.
Hamlet and Uncle Tom and East Lynne, from the ravaged of empty seats, rattle the skeletons of old barnstormers and handed out a comedy that would make their ghosts arise and cuff-see him in the "Barnstormer" at the T. D. & L. theater tomorrow for one day only.

PICTURES AT CHURCH IN EVENING

A very interesting feature is being planned for the evening service Sunday at Central Avenue Methodist church when A. F. Putterer will present Eye-o-Graphic pictures. These pictures are Bible masterpieces and the most brilliant and interesting Bible system ever presented. They are wonderful and exceed motion pictures as far as facts exceed motion. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to come and see these new pictures.

"Good gracious, Betty," exclaimed nurse, returning with her charge from a juvenile party, "how sticky your hands are!"
"Well, I guess yours would be, too, if you had two meringues and a chocolate eclair in your muff."

WHEEL CHAIRS ROLL EASY IN FLORIDA

Occupants of wheel chairs are abandoning trains in Florida and have joined the hosts of bicyclists, pedestrians and motorists who undertake long journeys on the highways of that state. The asphalt roads of the peninsular state are in such excellent condition that occupants of wheel chairs are able to make their way over the roads with little or no fatigue. A man in a wheel chair recently covered 116 miles on the road between
